Supposed previous ep: A Very Silly Sing-Along!/Very Silly Songs!
Supposed next ep: Larry-Boy! and the Fib from Outer Space!

PLOT

Work in progress. This adaptation of the Story of Adam and Eve would feature Freddy the Apple as Adam and the Pear as Eve based on the 1st book of Genesis in the Bible in the very beginning. The couple began to find out what the meaning of life is and how God made them in his own image and what role he has for them.

SCRIPT

THEME SONG

Theme song is the 1994 version from God Wants Me to Forgive Them!?!.

COUNTERTOP INTRO

(Right after the theme song, the screen fades from black, revealing Larry, sporting a chef's hat and an apron, cooking something near the oven.)

Bob: Hi kids, and welcome to VeggieTales. I'm Bob the Tomato.

Larry: And I'm Larry the Cucumber.

Bob: And we're here to answer your questions.

Larry: Right. Listen, Bob, I'm kind of busy cooking spaghetti and meatballs for a dinner party, so would you do the honors?

Bob: Okay. Anyways, we got a letter from John Nesbitt of Yellowstone, Wyoming.
John wants to know what is the meaning of life and what is man's role in the universe.

Larry: To be decent and to work hard! Next question.

Bob: Now, Larry, let's not jump to conclusions yet. It's a question that's been passed on since the beginning of time.

Larry: Oh, wise choice. Do you suppose we have a story about that?

Bob: I believe we do. John, get ready for the story of Apple and Eve.

Larry: Well, hurry up and start the story, I don't want anything to be overcooked.

Bob: Okay, here it goes.

Narrator: A long, long time ago, on a planet called Earth, God was there in the very beginning. He saw that the earth was dark and empty. God said, "Let there be light." He created the sun. It was the first day of creation. He called light "day" and dark "night". There was morning and evening. He also made the moon for night. On the second, third and fourth days. He made the waters separate from the vault, made land with trees with bearing fruit and vegetables with seeds, and the sky and clouds, and God saw it was good. On the fifth and sixth days, he created the birds that would fly in the sky and every kind of animal like foxes, Squirrels, and so forth. God saw it was also good. On the seventh day, he created man. He made an apple named Adam. God saw he was alone and it wasn't good. He then created a female Pear named Eve. God saw it was very good. After seven [7] days of creation, God was ready to rest. He then said, "It is all very good."

Adam: (looks around) Hmm, this world seems so environmentally safe. (turns and sees Eve) Oh, hi. Uh, my name is Adam, w-what's yours?

Eve: (giggles) The name's Eve, it's short for Evelyn.

Adam: So, um what brings you here to the world?

Eve: I don't know. I just appeared within seven days.

Adam: How is this miracle possible? It's not magic, that's for sure. Say, Eve, would you like to help me find the meaning of life?

Eve: I would love to.

Narrator: And so Adam and Eve searched the world in need of the answer to the meaning of life. When out of nowhere, came a voice!

God: Adam, Eve. I created both of you with my own image.

Adam: Who was that?!

Eve: I believe it was God.

God: That's right, Eve. I made you two here on this earth and you are very special to me.

Adam: Oh, hi, God. Thanks for making us. We were just looking for an answer to the meaning of life.

Eve: Yeah, what DOES it mean?

God: Well, since the world just started, life is just the beginning. My answer is you two are here to spread life and happiness abundantly.

Adam: Is that so?

God: Yes. And I made all the animals with life just like I gave yours. You are all special to me in my eyes. I also made every kind of plant with fruits and vegetables.

Adam: Please! Don't eat me and Eve.

God: No, no, not you two. I'm talking about fruit to eat. There is one tree across from the garden you and Eve must not eat from. If you do, there is a punishment I shall give to you if you chose to disobey me.

Adam: OK, God.

Eve: Yes, God.

God: Good. Now go have fun in the garden.

Narrator: And so what God told them, Adam and Eve are not to touch that fruit from the tree. Apples are in that tree. If they eat from that tree, they will be separated from God.

Adam: (To Narrator shocked) DON'T EVEN THINK ABOUT IT! I'm an Apple! Do not think about me being eaten!

Narrator: Not you, Adam. I meant the fruit apple from the tree.

Adam: Good. Now continue.

Narrator: Now then, just at that moment. A snake was coming right out of the bushes.
His name was Satan. He's one of those reptiles, also an angel from God who clearly chooses to disobey. He comes up with a sneaky plan to trick Adam and Eve.

Satan: Oh, look. An apple and a pear. Well, I'll be controlling them with my own eyes and… (looks at that forbidden tree) Oh, even better. I'm gonna trick them by eating that apple from that tree. (snickers)

Tree: You, Mr. Snake are gonna feel regretful about what you're about to do. God is in charge, not you.

Satan: First of all, my name is Satan. And secondly, a talking tree?! How uncanny!

Tree: Do you even know what the meaning of life is?

Satan: No, and I don’t care. And I don’t care if this God is in charge of anything.

Tree: How can you say that? God is more important than anything in the universe.

Satan: I clearly choose to not follow God and I don't wanna obey him. I wanna do things my way. One way or another.

Tree: I'm warning you, Satan. God is watching right now. I choose to obey him. Even though I just sprang to life.

Satan: Do what you want, but I'm gonna do things my way one way or another! (Snicker) Good day to you, sir!

Tree: Oh, dear. I better pray to God. (Closes his eyes and bow) God, hear my prayer. Help me warn Adam and Eve on what that dangerous snake is about to do. You are in control of all things through you and not Satan. In your name I pray. Amen.

God: Prayer answered, Mr. Tree.

Narrator: Yes, that tree who just sprang to life, he knew exactly what Satan was up to. He just sure hopes Adam and Eve don't fall into that trick. If they eat that apple, they would be separated from God.

(Screen fades to black)

Satan: "Apple and Eve" will be right back after this short break.

SILLY SONG: "THE PIRATES WHO DON'T DO ANYTHING"

(The "Silly Songs with Larry" title card appears, this time with Larry in pirate garb.)

Announcer: And now it's time for Silly Songs with Larry, the part of the show where Larry comes out and sings a Silly Song.

Eve: Now that we know what is the meaning of life, what is our role in the universe?

Adam: Well, as to man's role in the universe. I don't think he can.

Eve: Can what?

Adam: I don't think he can roll, in the universe, I mean he's not round enough to roll. Hey, Eve, do you see what I see?

Eve: What?

Adam: It looks like some sort of worm.

Eve: Nah, I doubt it's a worm.

Adam: But it crawls! If it's not a worm, then what is it?

Satan: Hot-cha-cha-cha! So, what do you think?

Eve: You do have quite a knack for singing, but what exactly are you?

Satan: I'm a reptile known as a snake. You might've noticed me crawling right in. Now listen to me carefully, if you want the true meaning of Life is and be like God, all you have to do is go eat that apple…(looks at Adam) Not you, Adam. You've been over it a few times. moment and a light bulb appears above his head) I know, remember when I said I'd be controlling them with my own eyes earlier in this story?

Narrator: Uh, yeah?

Satan: Well, that's what I'm gonna do! (snickers) I'm such a clever thinker.

Narrator: Well, that snake never quits being a bully. Just then, while Eve was coming out of the water, Satan came crawling to her.

Satan: Hello, Eve.

Eve: Oh, hi. What brings you here?

Satan: Oh, nothing personal, just to give you trouble. (snickers) Look deep into my eyes…

Eve: I beg your pardon?

Eve: (getting drowsy) What do you want me to do?

Satan: I want you to go back to that tree and eat that apple that looks delicious who is not your friend back in the water. (snickers)

Narrator: So Satan controlled Eve with his own yellow eyes to have her walk over to the forbidden tree with the apple,and the Tree walked over to the water, just when he was about to get in for a swim, he was shocked!

Tree: OH, NO!!! I always knew that snakes were very sneaky! I tried so hard to stop him.

Eve: (Walking to the tree) I must eat that apple and I'll give some to Adam.

Eve: An apple. Wanna bite?

Adam: THAT'S CANNIBALISM!! Why?

Eve: Adam, listen to me, hun. It's not you I'm gonna eat. It's a fruit apple, not you, honey.

Adam: I know, but you broke the rule God made for us to not eat from that tree. Not the talking tree, who likes us, but the forbidden tree.

Eve: The forbidden tree? Oops.

Satan: You're too late, Adam! Well, you guys won't get away. (twists the two heroes) At last, I'll have my revenge!! (laughs evilly)

Tree: Satan, you're about to regret what you did.

Satan: And why? What are you gonna do about it?

Tree: I'm gonna let God handle this.

God: Satan, what have you done?

Satan: You know very well what I did. You can't stop me.

God: I can, I am in control, not you. You will crawl on your belly for the rest of your life here on this earth and you're banished from the garden for all eternity. (lightning strikes at the snake)

Satan: Ah-ah-ah-ah-ah-CHOO!! (he crashes) I HATE RULES! I HATE EM, HATE EM, HATE EM!

God: And you Eve, why? What did I tell you?

Eve: It was completely out of my control. I'm sorry. I wouldn't be surprised if you banned me from here too.

God: What about Adam?

Eve: He's done nothing. I love him.

God: I forgive you. You can stay with Adam, but now the two of you can no longer stay here in this garden. I will send an angel to guard the entrance of the garden. You are banished.

Adam: But, where will we go? And what about him? (to Satan)

God: He can get out. I have him under control. Watch this. (footsteps are heard again, and you know what that means)

Satan: Oh, no. Not again! (the herd of wild elephants returns and tramples all over the snake)

God: That takes care of that. You two will go to another land. I will set up a house for you and will have the same things as here in this garden.

Narrator: Just then. A Cucumber angel from heaven comes out of the clouds with a sword as Adam and Eve walk out of the garden sad.

Angel: You shall not pass.

Tree: I'm gonna miss you Adam and Eve. I'll be here for you.

Adam and Eve: Thanks, Mr. Tree. (they float away)

Satan: (calling up) Come back here! (but they keep going) NO! NO!! They've done it to me again! I HATE RULES! I HATE EM, HATE EM, HATE EM! (cries)

(a nearby female snake comes by)

Woman reptile: Did they get away?

Satan: Yes, and ever since I turned into a life of crime, I stopped following God's orders. So I couldn't follow them. I'll be the laughingstock of the MROTW!

Woman snake: The MROTW?

Satan: Yes, they only come to me every 100 years so of course you've never heard of them.

Woman snake: But what is the MROTW?

Satan: It's the Mean Reptiles of the World! NO! (cries)

Narrator: And so Adam and Eve headed out their way in their robes and they were not allowed in the garden ever because of their disobedience. But they've gone to a nice quiet place where they can live in harmony.

Adam: Well, Eve, I least I still have you, that's what counts.

Eve: Oh, Adam. (Kisses him on the cheek)

Bob: "Whoever seeks to preserve his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life will keep it." - Luke 17:33.

Larry: Bob, what does that mean?

Bob: Well, Larry, it means for God, everything is special to him. And if a trick gets to you, you will be separated from God, but he will forgive you for what you did. You have to take responsibility for what life is to God. There will be consequences if you choose not to obey God.

(A ding is heard, and Larry reminds Bob about something.)
